As you lose your margin on your first deposit as a result of your losses, you may need to make an additional investment to keep your position open. If you can't provide margin adequacy, your position may be closed and you may encounter situations that will result in loss. In addition, you may encounter losses in your first investment in short selling transactions. Because the purchases you make to save your selling position are perhaps the highest prices of the stock. In such a case; YOU CAN LOSE EVERY INVESTMENT IN YOUR ACCOUNT QUICKLY, EVEN MORE THAN YOUR ACCOUNT WITH ADDITIONAL INVESTMENT MOVEMENTS. Small stock investors are generally unable to resell stocks they bought from brokers. Therefore, you should not speculate on the losses that you cannot cover in your investment. In particular, it is necessary for the continuity of your life; Do not invest with funds such as your retirement savings, student loans or consumer loans.

To engage in commercial transaction activities; You must have a good knowledge of finance, trading techniques and strategies. While performing any business transaction, with other professionals in the markets; You should be aware that you are in competition with licensed traders and the companies that employ them. In addition, along with the existing risks in the markets, you may experience losses due to system-related errors. In addition, commercial transactions may require high commission fees. When the commissions are collected; It can have an important role in your transactions by increasing your losses or reducing your gains.

Before starting a commercial transaction; You need to carefully consider your purpose, financial resources, needs, level of experience and other circumstances. If you need it, we recommend that you seek the services of a professional independent advisor before you start real trading.
